OPP bill brings tax increase for townships

Chad Ingram
Staff reporter

As expected, the new OPP billing formula that will come into effect in 2015 will likely translate into a sizeable tax increase for Minden Hills residents.

The township's new council held a preliminary budget discussion during an orientation session with staff at the Minden Hills Community Centre on Dec. 4.

Passed by the provincial government in August, the billing formula will nearly double Haliburton County's collective OPP bill from approximately $3.3 million to approximately $6.3 million during the next five years.

The increase is being phased in during that time.

In Minden Hills, the OPP bill will increase 57 per cent from approximately $1.1 million to approximately $1.9 million.

For 2015, the first year of the phase-in, the township's OPP requisition will jump by nearly a quarter-million dollars, from $1.2 million to approximately $1.47 million.

This increase equates to a 4.1 per cent tax increase for Minden Hills residents and councillors seemed to agree that, with the increase out of the township's control, the only option is for taxpayers to bear it.

"We're not going to limit our future ability to do things," said Reeve Brent Devolin, who was staunchly against cutting services to help come up with the money. "We're going to have to pay that. I'm not for cutting

Handlen's neighbours react to charges

Garry Handlen was a familiar face in the community of Minden, often seen putting around his yard on Anson Street or drinking at local bars.

A resident of the area for the past decade or so, Handlen was charged by RCMP with two counts of first-degree murder of two British Columbia girls on Dec. 1.

Handlen, 67, was arrested in Surrey, B.C., according to RCMP, charged in the deaths of Kathryn-Mary Herbert, who was murdered in 1975 at the age of 11 and Monica Jack, found dead in 1978 at the age of 12.

He had his first court appearance on Monday, Dec. 8 in Abbotsford, B.C., an appearance that was brief, lasting less than five minutes according to Vikki Hopes of The Abbotsford News.

"The courtroom was packed with family members of the two girls," Hopes told The Minden Times.

A long-time resident of Anson Street, Brent Devolin confirmed to the Times that Handlen has been living there for the past decade or so.

"I had observed him over the years, I didn't know him per se," said Devolin. "He's been there off and on ... [for] more than a decade ... he's someone you would see in the yard, because he's a putterer."

Devolin said he would wave to Handlen when saw him on the street but that the two never spoke.

services. I think it's a huge step back."

Deputy-reeve Cheryl Murdoch agreed.

"That is not the way to go," she said. "When you start cutting services, that's a slippery slope."

Murdoch and her county council colleagues lobbied the Liberal government throughout 2014 to reconsider the formula, which redistributes OPP costs evenly among all the households in the province.

Because the model weights seasonal residences and year-round residences evenly, cottage communities are getting hammered, with councillors arguing the formula is flawed and unfair.

"You fought very hard on that issue," Devolin said, applauding members of the former county council, including predecessor Barb Reid.

It is likely Minden Hills residents will face a tax increase of at least 5.2 per cent in 2015, as there will also be a growth in assessment value of approximately 1.1 per cent.

Property taxes are based on valuations by the Municipal Property Assessment Corporation.

At this early stage, it's unclear whether the township will be able to adequately maintain operations with a 1.1 per cent increase.

Wages for 2015 are set to increase two per cent, as per a collective agreement that expires at the end of the year.

The township will see an increase in provincial funding in 2015. It will be receiving $25,000 annually from the Ontario Community Infrastructure Fund and its equalization payments from the OMPF – Ontario Municipal Partnership Fund – will increase this year.

"We are getting about $65,000 more than we did last year," chief administrative officer/treasurer Lorrie Blanchard told councillors. "Those two [items] will help."

In Algonquin Highlands, councillors are exercising a similar philosophy, that the OPP bill increase is out of the township's control and will be carried by taxpayers. "We still have to grow the community," Reeve Carol Moffatt told the paper.

Council is considering a target that would cover the OPP bill, include growth and an additional two per cent, although, as Moffatt noted, "that's all subject to change when we get to the 'slice and dice' portion of our process."

Algonquin Highlands, which had the lowest per household cost for OPP services in the county at $76, will see the most drastic increase of the county's four townships, with its police bill increasing 230 per cent during the phase-in period.

It will grow from $330,000 to approximately $1,075,000.

The average per household cost for OPP services is expected to be $355 when the phase-in is complete.

The formula includes 60 per cent for fixed, base costs – at $203 – with the remaining 30 per cent of a community's bill coming from calls for service.

Dealing with the weight of the OPP billing formula was not the only topic of discussion for councillors last Thursday.

Councillors talked about advisory committees, policies, the possibility of live-streaming meetings and more.

Murdoch said she thought the township had too many committees and that some of their functions overlap and urged reorganization of committees in the new year.

Devolin suggested that at least some committees should be chaired by members of the public, some of whom he said have expertise that outweighs that of councillors.

"To pass them over so they can't be the chair of a committee, I think we're shooting ourselves in the foot," he said. "We don't want to lose their knowledge and expertise."

"Some of the best chairs were community members," Murdoch said.

It has been common practice for citizens to chair township advisory committees, until councillors were made the chairs of all committees in a contentious 4-3 vote near the beginning of the last council term.

Blanchard told council she'd like to put together a working group to go through and suggest changes for the township's policies, some of which she said needed "cleaning up."

A number of township policies were changed during the last council term.

The working group will consist of Murdoch, Councillor Jeanne Anthon and Councillor Pam Sayne.

"I know where some of those policies were changed," Murdoch said.

Councillors asked staff to look into the logistics and cost of live-streaming council meetings, as well as the possibility of laptop computers for council chambers.

"Certainly, part of my intention in coming to the head of council is to increase transparency to the public," Devolin said, emphasizing that live-streaming council meetings could be part of this, allowing residents to watch the meetings via the Internet.

Councillor Lisa Schell was skeptical of the laptop idea.

"We're talking about using them twice a month, when most of us already have one," Schell said.

Council also discussed salaries and benefits.

Councillors receive pay increases in step with those given to staff.

The reeve's salary sits at $25,970; deputy-reeve $20,777; and councillors $17,530.

Councillors are offered a Manulife flex plan, where they pick and choose benefits, customizing a plan.

The township pays up to $260 a month per councillor for benefits. Costs after that are automatically taken off pay cheques.

Mileage is paid on a sliding scale based on the price of gas and is for transportation to and from council meetings.

Additional trips require council approval.

Certainly, part of my intention in coming to the head of council is to increase transparency to the public.

Molly's Bistro, a Christmas gift for us all

If the ghost of Christmas Future wanted to show Ebenezer Scrooge what Christmas ought to taste like, he would have taken him directly to Molly's Bistro Bakery on 170 Bobcaygeon Road, in Minden. And, believe me; Scrooge would have needed no further convincing.

Molly McInerney and her talented team are experts at traditional holiday baking. And, lucky for us, they have been stocking the Bistro's freezer with wonderful foods that add a special touch to any holiday meal. All you need do is visit to buy some.

"We love to cook and bake Christmas treats from scratch so you don't have to," says Molly. "We know Christmas is a busy time for everyone and we're hoping we can make the lives of our customers a lot less hectic with these offerings."

Among the seasonal cuisine offered is traditional French tortiere, delicious mincemeat tarts, and a pumpkin pie that gives you no choice but to ask for seconds. Of course, there are other delectable pies and treats too. Molly would not have it any other way.

"It doesn't matter if the order is big or small," Molly says. "Come on down and pick whatever you need out of our freezer."

Open from 7 to 3, 7 days a week, Molly's is also renowned for its fantastic breakfasts, lunches and a delicious array of baked goods provided year round. The "Boring Breakfast" of bacon, eggs, home fries and coffee is a favourite, but her menu is anything but dull. You'll find fantastic, original dishes here, you won't see anywhere else.

Fresh breads, made by her husband Guy and savory or fruit pies are take-home favourites. There are also gluten-free and vegetarian options. If you don't feel like cooking, there are freshly frozen favourites like chicken, steak or shepherd's pies, lasagnas or quiches ready for your oven.

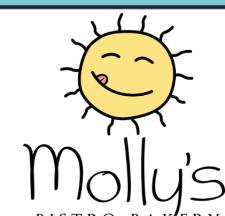

But at Christmas time, well, that's when the talent of her team really shines. You might want to consider it their gift to you.

Minden inspiration for Toronto musician

Chad Ingram
Staff reporter

Minden and its rocky terrain have been inspiring Charlie Mills for years, so it's fitting that the alt-country artist's newest project takes its content and title from the village.

The Minden EP, recorded with Mills's band the Damned Colonials, will be available on iTunes and on streaming sites, Mills is hoping on Christmas day.

Devon Gergovich on bass and Adam Thrasher on drums round out the trio. The songs have been recorded and are currently in post-production.

"Myself and the producer were talking about something smaller," Mills says, explaining the project is an in-between-albums sort of thing.

Mills records at Toronto's NuVintage Recording Studio with producer Jeff Scott. His last album, Mills's second, was called Work in Progress and was released in spring of 2013. One of its tracks, Lakes and Bays, was a CBC Songs of the Summer Top 10 finalist.

The new EP consists of the title track, Minden, a reworking of one of Mills's older songs and a reimagining of a Tragically Hip track Three Pistols.

"When I was growing up I went to Onondaga Camp," Mills says, explaining his connection to the area. "My father and uncles all went to Onondaga too."

It was at camp that Mills, 33, learned to play guitar.

During those periods, travelling up to the village was a rare treat.

"When you're at camp and you're allowed to go out . . . it's an exciting thing to get into town," he says, recalling meals at the Brown Owl Restaurant. The Brown Owl is gone now, in its place the Canadian Tire gas bar.

"It's about not being able to go back to a place and time," Mills says of the title track, explaining he has been back to visit in intervening years.

It's not the first time Minden had moved Mills to write.

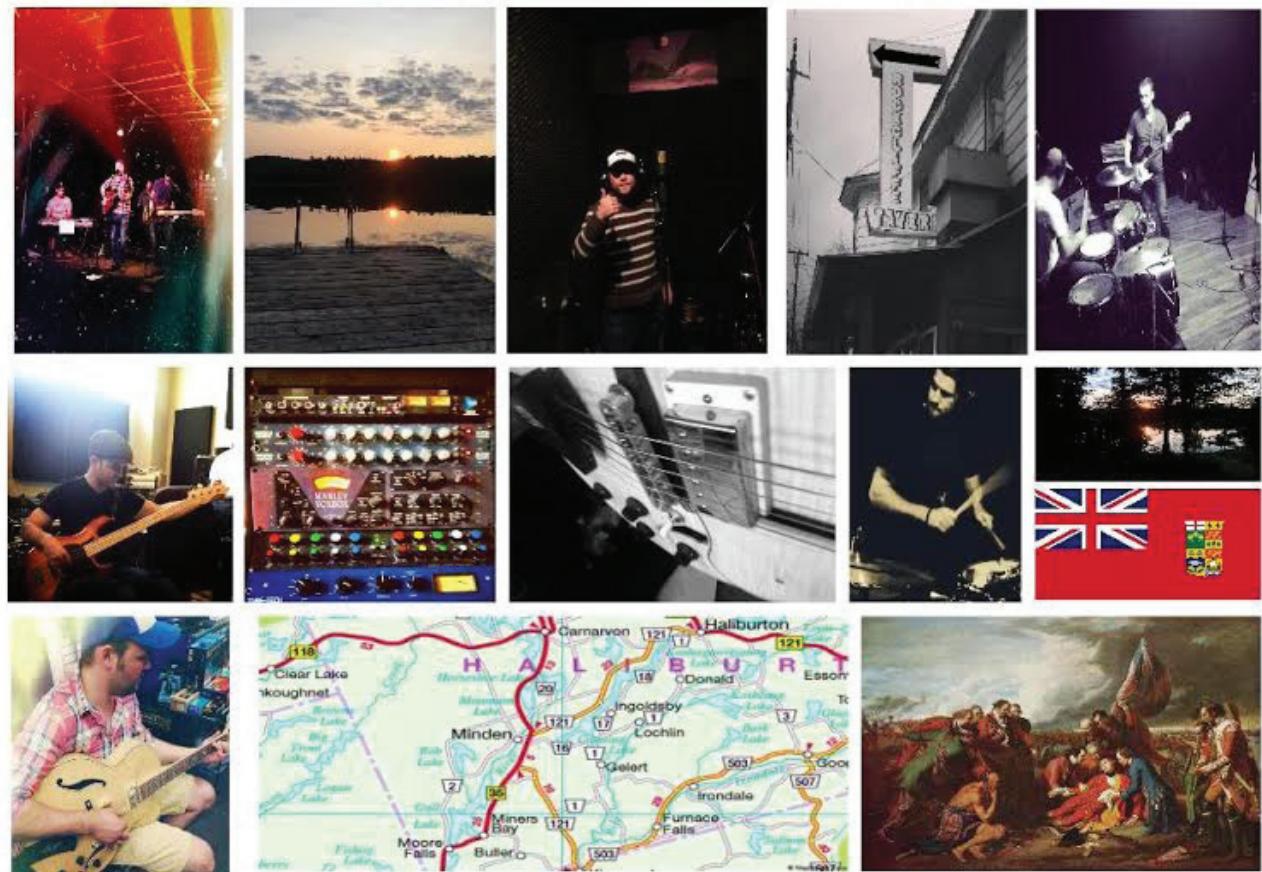

Little Place, a song from his 2010 album A City Slicker's Country Heart, is laced with local references.

"I've been thinking of a Little Place like that, Little Bob Lake and I'd like to go back," the lyrics read. "I've been thinking of a Little Place I know, write me at KOM 2K0."

The theme of Central Ontario's landscape seems to run like a river through Mills's music.

"That imagery evokes strong emotions in me," he says.

Mills, who is a teacher at a Toronto private school, is also passionate about history, which he studied at McGill and Trent universities.

Would he leave his day job if his musical career offered him that opportunity?

"I do love teaching," he says. "I think I'm really lucky to be able to explore a passion of mine . . . I don't think they're mutually exclusive."

Sometimes Mills's passions overlap, as they do on 1759, a song about the battle on the Plains of Abraham.

"That's what I teach," he says.

Dilapidated building comes down

Chad Ingram
Staff reporter

Christmas has come early to Kinmount. The derelict former gas station that sat abandoned at the intersection of county roads 121 and 503 for 20 years was demolished last week.

After the last owner of the business went bankrupt, the province and City of Kawartha Lakes seemed to play hot potato with the property for years, neither level of government wanting to take responsibility for it.

In the meantime, the state of the building grew worse, with smashed windows and a caved-in roof, suffered when a tree fell on it.

Not only was the building a despised eye sore, Kinmount residents said it was dangerous and feared it was only a matter of time before someone got hurt.

The City of Kawartha Lakes put the property up for tax sale on May 16 and it was purchased by numbered company 2420945 Ontario Inc.

Last week, what was left of the former gas station came down and up went a festive display of coniferous boughs and ornaments, a celebration that the building's aesthetic oppression had come to an end.

Resident Patrick Healey, a rep for the numbered company, wouldn't say what might be located on the property in the future.

"Just wait and see what's coming," he told the paper. "I'm not saying a thing one way or the other. The thing was to get the building down."

On Monday, a card from a thankful passerby had been left in one of the trees.

Healey thanked those who had contributed to the "Kinmount Eye Sore" trust he set up at the local credit union.

Fixing infractions at Highland Wood

Chad Ingram
Staff reporter

The following are brief reports of items discussed during a Dec. 4 meeting of the Haliburton Highlands Health Services board.

A nine-day provincial inspection of the Highland Wood long-term care facility in Haliburton noted 11 non-compliances, although Haliburton Highlands Health Services CEO Varouj Eskedjian called these infractions "relatively minor" and said 11 non-compliances out of 1,000 criteria was not bad.

Some related to skin and wound care, drug destruction and disposal and failing to report a critical incident to a director immediately.

Measures will be taken to address these areas moving forward.

System glitches delay OW payments

Jenn Watt
Editor

Rod Sutherland still isn't sure exactly what led to 170 late payments to Ontario Works recipients in Haliburton County and the City of Kawartha Lakes last week.

Using a new system implemented by the provincial government in November, the social services department has been tracking missed payments in addition to other payment discrepancies throughout the last month.

"We're not 100 per cent clear still what has happened," said Sutherland, the director of health and social services. "We're continuing to monitor that."

Across Ontario, similar problems have been coming up since SAMS, the Social Assistance Management System, was brought in on Nov. 11.

Money that was to be paid out on Monday, Dec. 1 accounting for a month's worth of OW benefit was delayed in some cases up until Friday, Dec. 5.

"In some cases, four or five days is a very long time, if this is the sole source of income," Sutherland said. "Especially dealing with a lot of vulnerable people ... this is their only source of funding for their basic needs: food, shelter."

His department was able to arrange for food vouchers for some clients and spent time on the phone with landlords who were demanding their rent payments.

Sutherland said he doesn't know how many of the 170 cases were Haliburton County residents, but said it was likely in proportion to the caseload in the county - 16 to 18 per cent.

The City of Kawartha Lakes handles social services for Haliburton County and has approximately 1,600 cases right now.

Sutherland met with the Ministry of Community and Social Services assistant deputy minister responsible for social assistance on Dec. 3, a press release from CKL says. "The ministry ... has assured the city that they are working to address the problems with the system."

The next scheduled OW payment is Dec. 23.

We're not 100 per cent clear still what has happened.

Director of health and social services

Reducing ER visits

According to a report from the Canadian Institute of Health Information, one in five visits to an emergency room is avoidable, this figure increasing to one in three visits when applied to residents of long-term care homes.

"For us, it's relevant," said Eskedjian, noting that because of the close proximity of Highland Wood and Hyland Crest to the hospitals in Haliburton and Minden, residents are sometimes taken to the ER for care.

These decisions are generally made by nurses.

"We think there's an opportunity for improvement," Eskedjian said.

Ready for Ebola

Despite no recorded cases in the country or the province, doctors and nurses in the county have met a Ministry of Labour directive that medical professionals be trained to deal with encounters of a person with Ebola.

Some were trained as late as Dec. 3.

"They got into those suits," Eskedjian said.

New committee popular

A new community advisory committee for HHHS attracted 60 applicants, 15 of whom were chosen to sit.

The committee will include two members of the former Community Care Haliburton County board, whose input board chairman John Kay said would be invaluable.

Details of the committee's function will be rolled out in the new year.

Dark coincidence

A SERIES OF DARK coincidences seems to be casting a bit of a shadow over Minden in recent weeks.

As was reported in the Times last week, it turns out that Jian Ghomeshi, the former CBC darling now facing numerous charges of sexual assault, took refuge at a Gull Lake cottage following his firing from the national broadcaster in late October.

That revelation came only after Ghomeshi turned himself into Toronto Police on Nov. 26 and to learn that the disgraced star, accused of having abused women over the past two decades or more, was hiding out just a few kilometres south of Minden was creepy.

Whatever degree of discomfort that caused Mindenites was surpassed mere days later when Garry Handlen, a man who has lived in Minden, off and on and at least for the past decade, was arrested by a B.C. police force for the murder of two girls in that province in the 1970s.

What's more is that, according to the CBC, Handlen had been convicted of and served nearly 20 years of combined jail time on charges of rape and violent sexual assault.

The shock was particularly visceral for me and I know many others. In the half a dozen years I've been in the community, I've met Handlen half a dozen or so times.

Sharing a mutual friend, I was in the Anson Street home where he'd lived during the 2013 flood. I've also raised a pint with him at one of Minden's watering holes.

Chad Ingram
Reporter

I've drunk beer with the guy.

So, it was chilling to the point of disbelief when, early last week, I recognized the face staring back at me from the National Post website.

There have been sardonic jokes of course, but that's what humans do in the face of unpleasant situations.

Minden, In Season, Every Season... If You're a Violent Criminal.

Indeed, I've heard people ask, what is it about Minden that makes it an apparent hideout for those running from something sinister?

The reality is there is nothing about Minden that has brought this on. These dark coincidences are just that, coincidences, and people shouldn't think they somehow reflect on the community, because they don't.

They are a random series of unfortunate events and it's foolish to read anything into them.

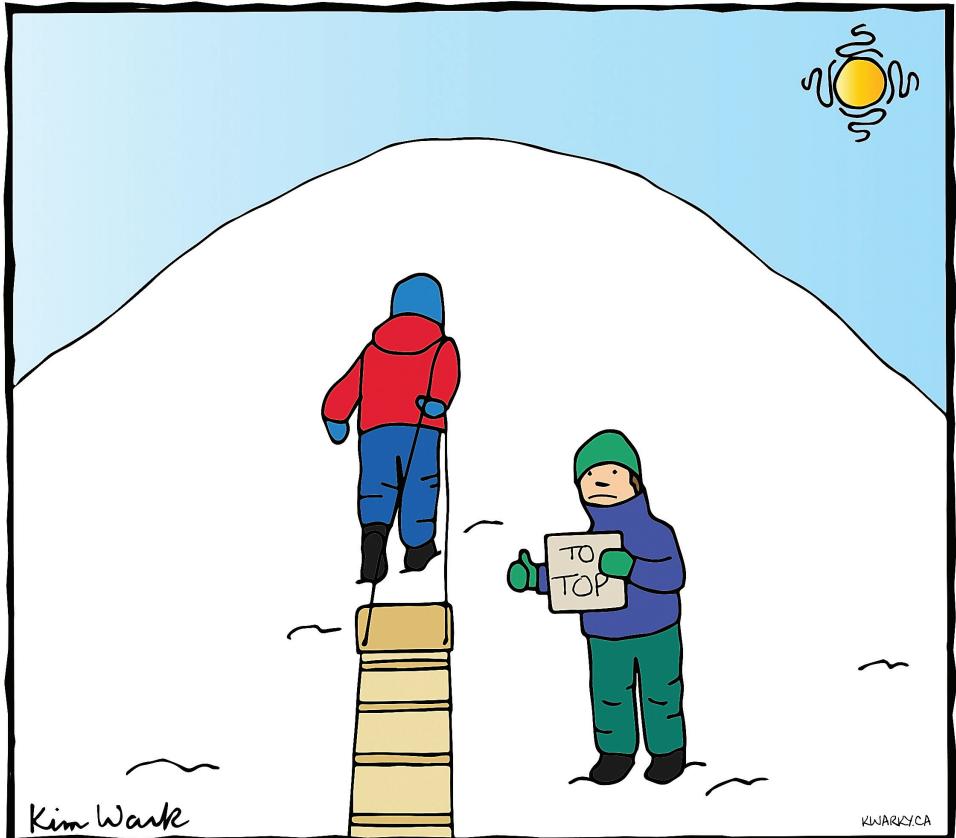

2015 is shaping up to be a great year for Minden. A new council is already exhibiting more collaboration and functionality than the township has seen in its municipal government in four years. And the Pan Am Games are coming to Minden Hills in June.

There's much to celebrate. Let's not get bogged down by the events of the past couple weeks.

Onward. Upward.

If you are going to act like a child you should be treated like one.

Unbelievable

IF YOU WANT a real sense of how entitled some people feel these days, all you need do is think carefully about the recent Saskatoon Tim Hortons snake incident.

In that sad episode, two 20-something year old men walked into Tim Hortons ordered sandwiches and specified they wanted diced onions on them – something they were immediately told Tim Hortons does not provide. This simple restriction caused these two Mensa Society rejects to get upset. So much so that a heated argument followed. Then, one of them pulled a snake out of the other's coat pocket and threw it behind the counter.

Really? Over onions?

Fortunately, it was a garter snake. Unfortunately, the staff behind the counter was not expert at snake identification so panic ensued and – no doubt – the drive-through line-up got delayed.

All because two spoiled twerps wanted diced onions.

I know this probably runs counter to what is considered acceptable in our progressive society, but I think the police should have dragged those two morons back into the store by the ears and publicly spanked. At the very least, they should have been made to spend the rest of the day sitting in a time out chair where they would have had to explain to anyone who asked why they were there.

If you are going to act like a child you should be treated like one.

I know it's only a minor misdemeanor. But it is also a symptom of how spoiled people are these days.

Diced onions for goodness sake...

Maybe I'm getting old but I still remember a time when you accepted a reasonable answer from the person behind the counter. You knew that the person you were speaking to didn't make the policy; he was just trying to get through the day. And though the answer might not be what you wanted to hear, you realized that if you asked for diced onions and got sliced onions instead life would somehow go on. And, at no point would you ever consider throwing a snake.

The act of throwing a snake was reserved for special occasions like your sister's pool party.

Somehow, we've lost that sort of civility however.

What really makes me mad is that these guys – and remember these are guys who are carrying a garter snake in their coat pocket – are acting as if their taste buds are so refined that they can tell the difference between the flavour of diced and sliced onions. Which begs the question, why would someone with that sort of refined palate order a sandwich at Tim Hortons?

Don't get me wrong; I love my Timmy's. But it's not exactly fine dining.

Maybe I'm making too big a deal of this, but I think it's high time we brought back public stockades. You know those old wooden things that were once in town squares. They were the place where petty criminals were held by their wrists and head while the goodly townsfolk throw tomatoes and other rotten vegetables at them.

These guys seem like prime candidates for this sort of treatment.

I bet a lot of valuable life lessons were learned at the stockades.

I know to some this probably seems like cruel and unusual punishment. I'm not of that opinion, however.

In fact, I'd be the first one to throw some vegetables. And, you know, I'd probably start with diced onions.

Winter of discontent

Finally, I get it. I understand now why the Jian Ghomeshi story has rolled across the country like a flash flood. I have no problem understanding the importance of the issue behind the story. Violence against women, and why they fear reporting it, are threats to a decent, safe society.

What I couldn't get is the intensity of the media frenzy. Is the general public really that anxious for more about a narcissistic disc jockey fond of thumping girlfriends during sex?

Even the CBC, Ground Zero for the Ghomeshi bomb, took time outs from its weeping and the gnashing of backbiting teeth to broadcast the smallest details. Pastor Mansbridge intoned about it almost nightly. The Fifth Estate investigated and gave the story prominence.

I suspect that the Big City newspapers spent fortunes on extra ink and paper to print their exhaustive Ghomeshi reports, even when there was little new to report. The Toronto Sun ran six photographs and one artist's sketch of the fallen star's first court appearance. Those images, basically all the same, were needed to break up the columns of type created by the seven stories needed to tell people about the brief court appearance.

Not since Wolfman Jack MCed the Ozark Music Festival back in '74 has a disk jockey received so much media attention.

But I get it now. The Ghomeshi story is a diversion in our unhappy times. We Canadians, and our neighbours to the south, are in a deep funk. Many of us are entering our seventh year of economic recession, even though it is said to have ended two or three years ago. Contract work is becoming more common than permanent jobs. The investment accounts of the rich continue to swell while more and more people visit food banks.

Climate change has left us dazed. Pollution and shifting Polar vortexes stir screaming Arctic storms one day, unprecedented drought on another, floods on still another. The World Wildlife Fund reports that the number of mammals, birds, reptiles, amphibians and fish across the globe is about half the number of 40 years ago.

Militarism in our police forces is an increasing concern. Police actions are questioned and protested while more and more police officers are shot at.

Meanwhile, our law enforcement agencies are still trying to win the war on drugs, which turns 44 in a couple of weeks.

Then there's radical Islam cutting off the heads of innocent unbelievers abroad and spreading hatred into our own communities.

Our politicians seek to comfort us by feeding us bafflegab and Pablum press releases. One example, from Steven Blaney, our federal public safety minister, the other day:

"Terrorism remains a real and serious threat to Canadians, which is why we must remain vigilant."

Wow, that's fresh and deep thinking, Stevie. But I think we've had the message since Sept. 11, 2001 when radical Islamists murdered 3,000 people on North American soil.

All this is creating a Winter of Discontent in which we look for distractions to shift our focus from the nasty crap piling up around us. There's nothing like a sex scandal involving a spotlighted personality to take our minds off our troubles.

Really though, who needs the Ghomeshi story to deflect our thoughts from the problems of the day?

If you need a diversion, take a walk in the woods. December storms have not materialized - yet. The snow is not even ankle deep, and soft and creaky in temperatures sometimes slipping above freezing. Daylight hours start growing again in 10 days and there's plenty of sun in the forecast.

If you are not up to a walk, take a drive along one of our sun-soaked backroads. You can afford it now that the price of gasoline is sinking below a buck a litre.

Cottagers well represented by council

To the Editor,

In reading Chad Ingram's latest editorial, "Bridging The Divide", I was surprised to learn that an outgoing councillor is claiming that the new Minden Hills council no longer represents cottager issues. I won't debate whether "cottager" is an appropriate term; I've been one for 47 yrs. and am very comfortable with that tag, being seasonal or permanent.

Let me reassure that person that "cottagers" are well represented on this new council. Never mind that all councillors have pledged to represent all the interests of all their ratepayers, I happen to know that one of the new councillors was president of the Federation of Ontario Cottagers' Assocs. (FOCA) for four years, on the FOCA board for 14 years, and helped initiate the Ontario Lake Stewardship Program; was a director on the North American Lake Management Society representing Ontario, Quebec and Manitoba for two years; a governor of the Canadian Coalition on Acid Rain for eight years, executive member for four; appointed by the Ontario Government to participate in strategic planning for Ontario Fisheries; represented "cottagers" at the provincial review of alternatives to market value assessment, and worked since the '60s on a variety of lake issues from septic inspections to lake planning.

Does that cover the waterfront adequately?

Jeanne Anthon,
Councillor Ward 1

Eye sore eliminated

To the Editor,

Have you driven through Kimount lately? Wow! The clean up of the century at the corner of Hwy 121/503.

No kidding.

Two thumbs up for whoever owns this property now. I just want to say thank you, sir, for cleaning up one of the worst eye sores in this charming little town.

You have done what others were complaining about for years I'm sure and nothing was done. Yes 2420945 Ontario Inc, two thumbs up again. You did a great job for Kimount and the City of Kawartha Lakes.

No ice is safe ice

The Haliburton Highlands Detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police (OPP) is warning the public to please stay off what may appear to be frozen ice surfaces. Although it may appear that there is ice on area lakes and rivers, the ice is not safe and the conditions have not been cold enough to allow for strong ice to form.

Ice is constantly changing in response to weather and water conditions and is effected by many different factors including thickness, currents, age of the ice, pressure cracks and snow cover.

The Haliburton Highlands OPP encourages everyone to stay off the ice when conditions are obviously dangerous especially in the early winter and late spring.

The advice of the OPP is very simple as at this time "No Ice, is Safe Ice". Please follow this very important public safety message as any ice related rescue has the potential to put the lives of many first responders at great risk.

Handlen was nice, helpful: neighbours

"He was a quiet, solitary soul," said Devolin. "I never heard anything negative about him, ever."

Handlen was known to other residents of Anson Street as well.

"He gave us a TV and a VCR," said a man, who wished not be identified, explaining Handlen had assisted him and his wife after the devastating flood in the spring of 2013. "I know he's done work for other people on the street."

The couple, whose home is a few doors down from the residence where Handlen was living, said they saw him on a regular basis and were shocked to learn of the murder charges.

"We see him every day, nearly," the man said. "Always friendly. From what we knew of him, you couldn't ask for a nicer guy."

Another neighbour said he'd only met him once, but understood that Handlen did work as a handyman.

The woman in the house next door to the home where Handlen stayed said she knew of the charges, but had no comment.

The Times was not able to contact the woman who owns the home where Handlen resided.

Sean Hooey, owner of popular bar The Rockcliffe Tavern, said Handlen used to frequent his establishment.

"He was in here the summer of 2012," said Hooey. "He was here quite often ... he was kind of a weird guy. He would get kind of confrontational with people after a few drinks."

Hooey said it got to a point where he asked Handlen to stop coming to the bar. He didn't see him again until the summer of 2013.

"He was randomly in here on a Saturday night," he said. "I told him to leave and he got kind of wound up."

Hooey said he didn't have any indication of Handlen's criminal past and that he mostly kept to himself.

"He would come in and have a cheeseburger and a beer ... he was usually on his own" said Hooey. "He used to talk about being here [in Minden] in the 1980s."

When the bar owner first heard the news that Handlen was charged with first-degree murder he was shocked. The charges have not been proven in a court of law.

Hooey said Handlen always used his real name when at The Rockcliffe.

Devolin said he did see Handlen in the neighbourhood during the month of November, but can't remember the last time he saw him.

According to the RCMP, Handlen was arrested without incident on Nov. 28 in Surrey, B.C. His next court date is scheduled for March 2, Hopes told The Times.

Handlen remains in custody and it is not known when a bail hearing will be set, according to The Abbotsford News.

Anyone with information on Handlen is encouraged to contact the RCMP tip line at 1-877-543-4822.

2014 Christmas bird count this Sunday

Dennis Barry

Special to the Times

Hope everyone's getting excited about this year's Christmas bird count happening Sunday, Dec. 14. The weather forecasters are promising to co-operate, but we'll have to wait and see.

This will be the 48th year for the count. Over that time 103 different species of birds have been found, plus one additional, red-throated loon, seen only during count week. Only six kinds have been seen on every count. You can probably guess at least four of them: downy and hairy woodpeckers, blue jay and black-capped chickadee. The other two are ruffed grouse and common raven. There are six other species that have been recorded in every year but one. However, there are 25 species that have been seen on only one of the 47 counts.

There are two birds that I have seen in the count circle during winter, but not on an official count. One winter during the late 1950s at a time when my parents raised beef cattle on a farm south of Minden, a killdeer spent several months there. Each day my father would chop ice from springs in the farmyard and let the cattle outside to drink. The killdeer would come to the waterholes every day to look for food. There was another spring about half a kilometre away across the highway that stayed open all the time. Even when temperatures were way below zero Fahrenheit, frogs and insects such as water boatmen could be seen moving slowly about beneath the surface. The killdeer spent every night there and was able to find enough food that it survived at least into February.

During two winters in that same era, a saw-whet owl would appear in our barn just before each major snowstorm. When I turned on lights to toss down hay to feed the cattle for the next day, the tiny owl would sit on a large rope attached through pulleys to a large fork used in summer to haul hay off a wagon up into the haymow. When I moved the hay, I would often disturb mice or house sparrows that were hiding there. The owl would watch for a mouse to run along a beam, or a sparrow to fly out. Neither would get far before the owl caught its dinner. At the beginning of winter there were perhaps two dozen sparrows in the barn. By spring only two had escaped its talons. As soon as the skies cleared after a storm, the little owl would disappear. Unlike the "experts" on the local news, its weather forecasting was never wrong.

While it's extremely unlikely a killdeer will be found in Haliburton County again during winter, there are, no doubt, a few saw-whet owls hiding out somewhere in the count circle at this very moment. Maybe you'll be the lucky person to find the first one for the count.

Dec. 14 is the first day of the official count period which lasts until Jan. 5. This year's count is being held on Sunday in order to take advantage of any remaining open water to find lingering gulls and waterfowl.

To check results from past counts, go to the National Audubon website. This count is named "Minden" after the largest town in the count circle, and the code is ONMN.

The circle extends from Kinmount in the south, west to Bob Lake, to Mountain Lake in the north and east to Irondale, Gelert, Lochlin and Ingoldsby. It was selected to include the most open water in the Gull River and Burnt River systems. So far, small lakes, and bays on larger lakes have frozen, but rivers and the main parts of large lakes remain open, and snow cover is still limited. The long range forecast for Dec. 14 calls for sunshine and a high temperature of +2 C. That should encourage birds to come to feeders and make for a pleasant experience for those out looking for them.

So stock your feeders with sunflower seed and niger, scatter some millet or cracked corn on the ground for the juncos and mourning doves, and hang up some suet for the gray jays and nuthatches. Call to join us on Dec. 14, but, most importantly, let us know what birds are at your feeders and around your neighbourhood so they're included in this year's totals. How many chickadees are visiting your yard is perhaps more important to the overall results than the presence of less common birds. So don't think because you see only three birds on Dec. 14, your results aren't important. With so little wild food available, the success of this year's count depends on you.

Contact Ed, Thom or Dennis for more information, or to join a group on Dec. 14.

To report birds at your feeder, phone 286-1189 between 5 and 7 p.m. on Dec. 14, or phone Ed or Thom on Dec. 15. Or you can email your results to Dennis or mail them to Dennis Barry, 338 Crystal Beach Blvd., Whitby, ON L1N 9Z7. Species not seen by anyone on Dec. 14, but found on Dec. 11, 12, 13, 15, 16 or 17 will be recorded as Count Week birds. Numbers of individuals are not recorded for birds seen on any day except Dec. 14. We just want to know, for example, that, while no one saw a golden eagle anywhere in the count circle on Dec. 14, one was spotted circling over Gelert on Dec. 16.

RIDE checks result in charges

During the week of Dec. 1 to Dec. 7, members from the Haliburton Highlands Detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police (OPP) and the Central Region Traffic Unit conducted 28 R.I.D.E. (Reduce Impaired Driving Everywhere) at various locations within Haliburton County.

Charges and Suspensions

- Two Approved Screening Device Tests (Drivers who consumed alcohol but breath samples were less than 50mgs)
- Two Three-Day Administrative Driver's Licence Suspensions

Officers want to remind drivers that any amount of alcohol can impair one's ability to drive and that the OPP can issue an immediate roadside driver's licence suspension to drivers who register a Blood Alcohol Concentration (BAC) in the "Warn Range" of .05 to .08.

On Dec. 7, the OPP established a RIDE check program on Gelert Road in Minden Hills Township that resulted in one male driver being charged.

When the vehicle entered the RIDE program an officer determined that the driver was not wearing his seatbelt. As a result of the investigation a 52-year-old man of Eldon Township was charged with the following:

- Fail to properly wear seatbelt- section 106(2) of the Highway Traffic Act
- Driving while disqualified- section 259(4) of the Criminal Code of Canada

He is scheduled to appear in the Ontario Court of Justice in Minden on Jan. 7 to answer to the charges.

On Dec. 8, members of the OPP established a RIDE check program at the intersection of Highway 118 and County Road 35 in Minden Hills Township that resulted in one male driver being charged.

When the vehicle entered the RIDE program an officer observed expired licence plates. A check on the male driver indicated he was in breach of conditions imposed from previous incidents. As a result of the investigation, a 50-year-old man from Peterborough County was charged with the following:

- Driving while under suspension
- Driving while disqualified
- Fail to Comply with Probation Order
- Fail to Comply with Recognizance

He was held for a bail hearing Dec. 9 in the Ontario Court of Justice in Lindsay.

The Haliburton Highlands OPP officers are in full force during the Festive RIDE campaign running from Nov. 24 until Jan. 2 that RIDE stops can be conducted at anytime and anywhere in Haliburton County.

Fleury family celebrates 400 year history

Dale Fleury
Special to the Times

When a Fleury says "I'm Canadian!", they really mean it! Not many Canadians can trace their ancestry in Canada back as far as 400 years, but the Fleury family can. And now there are nine books to prove it!

The Fleury Family Board announced in November that the Fleury family will celebrate 400 years of family history in Canada as of 2015.

In recognition of this milestone, Calgarian C. Dale Fleury recently compiled nine comprehensive our fleury ancestry books chronicling the lives of Fleury families in Canada from 1615 to 2015. More than 50 years of dedicated research has gone into the books, beginning long before genealogical information became available online.

About the books

The Fleury Family story begins with the arrival of Simon Thomas de Fleury in early New France. It then concentrates on the descendants of Joseph Fleury Senior and his wife Mary (Sipes) Fleury in Ontario and western Canada, from the 1800's to the present.

Dale Fleury commented, "The introduction book provides a foundation for descendants of the first five generations of Fleury families in Canada and is a must for all other collections. Together the nine books include over 5,000 Fleury-related individuals, although I'm sorry to report that as far as we know (hockey player) Theoren Fleury is not a descendant of Simon Thomas!"

How to order

All books are available exclusively through Parker Pad & Printing of Markham/Haliburton, ON. Visit www.fleury-ancestry.com for order details and book indexes to help readers determine whether one of the books includes their immediate family. Orders received by Dec. 10 will be shipped in time for Christmas.

STAGE
THIS SUMMER?

Lend Me A Tenor by Ken Ludwig

We begin the season with quite possibly the funniest play written in the past 30 years. Set in the 1930s, Lend Me A Tenor is a madcap screwball comedy. Tito Merelli, the fiery-tempered and world famous Italian superstar, arrives in Cleveland, Ohio to make his debut with the local opera and promptly goes missing. As Saunders, the show's presenter, conspires to cover for Tito's absence, placate his hot-blooded wife, and distract his most passionate fans, chaos on a truly operatic level ensues. There is lots of slamming doors and characters in their underwear, so you know it will be an uproarious evening.

One Flew Over The Cuckoo's Nest by Dale Wasserman

Randle McMurphy is the newest patient at a mental facility. We quickly learn McMurphy isn't actually crazy, but a charming, funny rebel who pretends to be insane in order to serve out his prison sentence at the asylum instead of hard labour at a work farm. When he meets the cold and controlling Nurse Ratched, whom he immediately clashes with, he quickly learns his plan was a mistake. His outrageous actions change the conditions for the better, until he faces the ultimate showdown with Ratched in a heartbreak ending that is both powerful and uplifting. A hilarious and poignant play. JULY 13-17, 22-24 @ 8pm

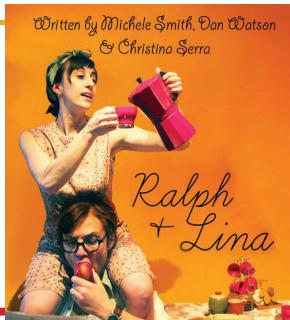

Wingfield Lost And Found by Dan Needles, starring Rod Beattie | Directed by Douglas Beattie

In the midst of a record drought, wells on the Seventh Line are drying up. A search to locate a new well on Wingfield Farm ensues, but distractions abound: a high-tech cattle drive, a battle with yellow jackets, a feud with a red-tailed hawk, an eccentric line-up of water witches and a well driller who is only too happy to perforate the ground at forty dollars a foot. More than an environmental comedy, Wingfield Lost and Found is a whimsical reminder that searching can turn up more than what is lost and teach us the value of more than what is found. JULY 19-21 @ 8pm

Nunsensations! by Dan Goggin

The Nunsense Vegas Revue takes the Little Sisters of Hoboken on a brand new adventure. When a parishioner volunteers to donate $10,000 to the sisters' school if they will perform in a club in Las Vegas, Mother Superior is hesitant to accept. However, after being convinced by the other sisters that 'what happens in Vegas, stays in Vegas', Reverend Mother agrees. What follows is the most feather-filled, sequin-studded, fan dancing Nunsense show ever. 'Nunsensations!' is a whole lot funny and a little bit naughty, but there ain't nothin' dirty goin' on!

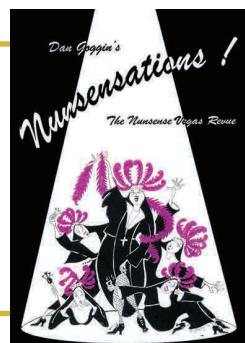

JULY 27-3 | AUGUST 5-7 @ 8pm

Ralph + Lina by Michele Smith, Dan Watson & Christina Serra

Ralph + Lina is a rough and tumble romance which follows the struggles of two Italian lovers in the face of war, immigration and old age. In the vein of early Fellini, this award-winning creative team of Michele Smith and real life husband and wife Dan Watson and Christina Serra, dives into their family history to explore love, dedication and courage in a passionate, acrobatic comedy that reinvents the modern melodrama. Ralph and Lina's happiness is hard won and true.

Red Hawks look to rebound after loss

The Hawks drop to 1-2 while the Wildcats improve to 2-1. Hunter Smith led all Hawks scorers with five points. Records are accurate as of Friday, Dec. 5.

Darren Lum Staff

Darren Lum
Staff reporter

Last Wednesday was a day of war.

It's not usually how a high school basketball game plays out, but it's an appropriate description of what transpired between the senior boys' Red Hawks basketball team and the visiting I.E. Weldon Secondary School Wildcats.

Hawks coach Dave Waito didn't quite share the same hyperbole sentiment, simply calling the game a "grind."

"You don't see senior games 12-10 at the half," he said.

No doubt about the physical toll for both teams after the game, as players put it all out there, with nary an uncontested shot or drive, jostling for position down low, swinging the ball from side to side, stutter-stepping and juking at full speed in and out of the key, and sprinting the length of the floor.

When it came right down to it though the main factor in the 32-21 loss was poor free-throw shooting, particularly down the stretch, Waito said.

"We shot 34 per cent from the line [for the game]. There were lots of opportunities to put them up there so we got to work on that and make sure we're taking care of the things we can control," he said.

The Hawks could only shoot 21 per cent (three of 14 attempts) compared to the Wildcats' 80 per cent (eight of 10 attempts) from the free-throw line in the fourth quarter. This statistic alone equates to five points, which could have changed the entire make up of the last frame.

When the offence isn't there, Waito said, that's when the defence needs to carry the team.

"We're going to have these grinds some nights and some times, you know, if we're having trouble putting points on the board we just have to step up on the defensive end," he said.

Fresh from a win against the Brock Bulldogs of Cannington, the Hawks started well against the Wildcats, who entered play with a loss to the Falcons of Fenelon Falls Secondary School.

It was 6-3 for the Hawks with 2:16 left in the first.

The Wildcats coach called a time out and it seemed to calm her team that was starting to get frustrated, taking bad fouls against the Hawks. They tied it up minutes later 6-6.

Both teams didn't allow easy looks or allow for many open lanes.

Early in the second the Hawks regained their lead 8-6, but the Wildcats tied it up again seconds later.

With a little more than two minutes left in the second quarter, the Hawks couldn't box out on the defensive end, leaving the Wildcats with repeated attempts at the bucket, scoring on the third to give the squad from Lindsay their first lead 10-8, which they wouldn't relinquish.

Only down by a bucket at the half, the Hawks committed three consecutive fouls, leading to six free-throw attempts for the Wildcats, who could only score on two of them.

The free throw line (albeit not very successful for the Wildcats) attempts seemed to disrupt the flow of the game for the Hawks.

Despite Haliburton showing glimmer of life with better ball movement and strong offensive drives the deficit grew to six (18-12).

Seconds left in the third quarter, a full out sprint and layup to score from Hawks guard Angus Sullivan not only narrowed the deficit to four (20-16), but reignited the crowd.

The renewed energy wasn't enough.

The Wildcats pulled away and finished the game with a 12-5 run, playing tough until the buzzer.

For the second half the Wildcats didn't give anything away, fouling and using zone coverage. To counteract the coverage, the Hawks swung the ball around. Waito expects to see this type of defence again.

The Hawks switched things up on the defensive end, employing a press for the first time.

"I think it was effective. It was the first time we showed that. Got a couple of steals, caused a couple of turnovers and I think that's something that we're going to look to for sure to get some points on the board and to keep [opposition] off," he said.

Waito continues to tell his team about the three main ingredients to success: turnovers, rebounds and attacking the inside.

With 23 turnovers, Waito said, the team will continue to reduce that number.

The team continues to drive inside for points and the

COUNTY OF HALIBURTON

The Council of the County of Haliburton will be discussing the 2015 budget at their regularly scheduled meeting on Wednesday, December 17, 2014, the January 14, 2015 Committee meetings and the January 28, 2015 Council meeting.

Budget discussions will also include a review and approval of changes to the County Tariff of Fees for 2015.

The meetings start at 9:00 a.m. and will be held in the County Council Chambers at 11 Newcastle St., Minden.

rebound game was better than the last game against the Brock Bulldogs.

The Hawks (1-2) can look forward to rematch in the New Year, he said.

"It's a good match up. It should be close games every time we see them," he said.

They will play the Wildcats (2-1) again in league play and possibly at a tournament, Waito adds.

The Hawks forward Hunter Smith and guard Angus Sullivan led the team with five points while post player Nick Thompson added four points.

The Wildcats player Theo Keypers led all players with 10 points.

The team will host Fenelon Falls Secondary School Falcons today.

Peewee AE hosts Silverstick in Minden

Sponsored by the Peppermill Steakhouse and Restaurant, located just south of Carnarvon on Hwy 35, the Highland Storm Peewee AE hosted the annual Silverstick Tournament in Minden this past weekend. Unfortunately, the squad had a tough go and failed to get a win in the three games they played but all of the kids kept their heads held high and displayed great sportsmanship when faced with this disappointing adversity.

You've got to hand it to this team for continuing to show up and play hard game in and game out, despite the losses.

There were some bright spots; Jaylin Frost continued to develop her defensive skills, learning a difficult position very quickly and showing that she has the qualities to develop into a solid defensive presence. "Shake and Bake" Jake Sisson was the star of the tournament for the Storm, scoring two goals over the three games and goalie Nate Misco showed that he can flash the leather with the best of them.

Thanks go to all of the parents who volunteered their time to make this a fantastically well-run tournament, team manager, Jenni Sisson for keeping everything organized and Bill Newhook for being the tournament convenor.

The coaching staff of James Baldry, Jeff Martin, Jamie Walker and yours truly, appreciates the patience and support our parents continue to display week after week. The season may not be what everyone had hoped for as far as wins and losses are concerned, but the lessons learned by these great kids may end up being much more valuable in the end.

Bantam A stays strong

The Storm took the Bracebridge Bears 6-4 in Haliburton last Friday. Although missing a few key players, the Storm held strong. Hats off to captain Cooper in this game. First one came when the Storm manoeuvred into the Bracebridge zone, a pass from Lucas Haedicke to Cooper and he found the open corner. Next was during a power play, passes from O'Neill to Lucas Haedicke onto the stick of Cooper and he snapped it in, ending the first period 2-0.

Next goal came halfway through the second from a high slap-shot by Jacob Haedicke that stunned the goalie, assisted by Cooper and Lucas Haedicke. The Storm continued to pressure the Bears. O'Neill closed in and passed it to Manning, his sharp eye found Cooper open and ready to complete his hat-trick, ending the second 4-1.

Early in the third, Manning was in the right place to capture a rebound goal that came from a shot by Jacob Haedicke. Then Patterson-Smith did his magic, deked through and snapped it in. The Bears turned it up a notch late in the third and surprised the Storm with some goals, closing the gap but it wasn't enough, it ended, 6-4 for the Storm.

It was a nice 2-0 shutout win for the Storm against the Oro Thunder on Saturday. An entertaining game with lots of back and forth action. Scoring began with a surprise gift goal, a shot by Cooper from centre deflected in.

Late in the second, Patterson-Smith pushed passed their defence and found the opening. Awesome game to all the boys, special mention to Bellefleur who earned the shutout.

The Highland Storm Bantam A team is proudly sponsored by Smolen Dentistry.

Girls win over Lynx 5-0

The Minden Car Quest Auto midget B girls hosted the Lindsay Lynx on Sunday, Dec. 7 in an afternoon contest to secure first place in their eastern loop. The Storm girls were short-staffed for their 14th game (two-thirds of the way through their season) as they took on the young Lynx squad. Alicia McLean opened the scoring (the first of two – and eventual game winner) with a bank shot from behind the net off the Lindsay tender midway through the first period.

The Storm added three more tallies in the second period with goals by McLean, Kelsey Maracle and Madie Allore – who also chipped in with a hat-trick of helpers. Erin Little rounded out the scoring in the third period with a nice wrister in the 5-0 win. Connor Marsden earned her fifth shutout of the season securing first place for the Storm squad. Great team effort, girls!

Keep the focus, girls, as we head into the winter break with a road game to Ennismore next week and then to Peterborough in the New Year on Saturday night, Jan. 3 to take on the second place Ice Kats for a battle to maintain first place bragging rights. Next home is Sunday, Jan. 4 at 1:30 in Haliburton hosting the fourth place Keene Wolverines.

Here at the old farmhouse during 10-year-old grandson Ben's recent visit he was heard to exclaim "grandma come quickly this is absolutely disgusting." Although Ben is pretty country savvy fearing the worst such as a dead mouse or other treasure left by a cat who overshot the litter box I rounded the dining room corner to find him staring into a freshly opened bag of potato chips. Dad Graeme had bought these for him in his favourite flavour barbecue and bacon en route and while the bag felt full it proved to be half chips and the other half empty air. Listening to him passionately addressing the wrongs of such false marketing

I mentally added to his future resume. Along with hockey star centre for the Maple Leafs in the NHL and celebrity member of the brass section on trumpet for the Toronto Symphony now comes the new future role of consumer advocate with him taking up the challenges still left unresolved by the American watchdog Ralph Nader.

My first goal of hockey stardom is a little in jeopardy with a difficult season to date however at the first game in this past weekend's tournament Ben's team was victorious over the North Bay squad rated fourth in its division across the province. He is one great kid.

December 5 euchre at Staanworth Court, Minden: Winning for high hands was Doreen Francis, for lone hands Pat Bailey, for low hands Judy Reddy and for the special prize Jean Randall. Thanks to Shirley Howe for this news.

December 6 bid euchre at Staanworth Terrace, Minden: Leading ladies were Jean Randall 263, Karen Chapman 252, Barb Callaghan 237 and Theresa Deak 232. First for the gents at 334 was Ron Morrison followed by Jason Peacock 324, our reporter Albert Foster 272 and Ida Young 223. Bev Johnson won the major special prize with Albert Foster, Ida Young and Jason Peacock claiming the smaller rewards. In the moonshot column Bev Johnson, Karen Chapman and Ida Young had singles with Jason Peacock taking two.

December 8 euchre at St. Paul's Friendship Club, Minden: Most lone hand honours went to Margaret Fletcher and Kay Godden with Yvonne Arbuthnot and Lil Mann posting the high scores. The afternoon's low went to Gail Nicholson with Lil Mann also winning the special prize. Thanks to Tim Sharpe for this update.

December 8 euchre at Staanworth Terrace, Minden: Sherin Brown reports that Joan Riel won for high hands and Margaret Fletcher on a cut of the cards for lone hands. There was a tie for low hands between Murray Daniels and Lil Mann with Lil also claiming the special prize.

Toy drive collected mountain of gifts

Melissa Alfano

Dorset News

705-766-0076

malfano@hotmail.ca

From Barb Townes: "We'd like to express our appreciation to people in the Dorset area who contributed with food, toys and financially to the annual Food and Toy Drive for the Salvation Army. Well over a ton of items were collected by Santa and his Elves."

"Thirty-two volunteers drove, collected, sorted and packed from Lions Camp Dorset.

"Thank you once again Dorset for coming through to help out the less fortunate. If you were unfortunately missed, or you forgot, there will be a buggy in Robinson's General Store for another eight or nine days."

"Merry Christmas to you and yours from the Dorset Community Project Group, Dorset Lions and Friends."

Dorset's own potter, Tara Gilchrist of Chetolah Pottery Studio will be participating in the Made In Muskoka Christmas sale taking place this Friday 12 to 8 p.m., Saturday 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sunday 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Sutherland Hall, 30 High Street, Huntsville.

On Saturday, Dec. 13 from 2 to 4 p.m. Knox United Church is hosting a Pie Sale and Tea.

Come for a slice of pie, coffee or tea or juice and stock up for Christmas on baked or frozen pies, mincemeat and butter tarts.

Pickleball is taking place Mondays from 6:45 to 8:45 p.m. and Fridays from 10 a.m. to 12 p.m. at the Dorset Recreation Centre. Beginners are welcome equipment is available to use.

The cost is $2.50 per person or free with a membership. Call Judy at 705-766-0288 for more information.

There will be a foot care clinic with Fran Gower, RN on Wednesday, Dec. 17 at the Dorset Recreation Centre. Call Fran at 705-635-1229 for more information or to book an appointment.

The Dorset Recreation Centre and Dorset Branch of the Haliburton County Public Library will be closing at noon on Christmas Eve, Wednesday, Dec. 24 and will reopen for regular operating hours on Friday, Jan. 2.

Birthday wishes for Dec. 7 to 13 go out to Weldon Tracey, Jackie Timbers, Donald McEachern and Chris Davis. If you have items or birthdays for the Dorset News, please send them to malfano@hotmail.ca or give me a call at 705-766-0076.

Highland Trio to entertain Saturday at Minden Legion

Legion br. 636

Love to listen to the Highland Trio? Or maybe country, bluegrass, folk and down-east music is your thing.

Then bundle up your sweetie this Saturday, our premises nice and cosy and the Highland Trio will be entertaining from 1 to 5 p.m.

Minden area has some pretty terrific amateur musicians and we expect to have an open mic between sets.

There's always a good turnout as the Trio has some very loyal fans, so plan to come early for the best seats.

There's no cover charge, just a donation at the door for the band.

Ring out the Christmas bells! Wednesday Dec. 17 Minden Legion will be serving our annual Christmas turkey dinner with all the fixings, from noon to 2 p.m. There will also be special Christmas meat draws featuring hams and turkeys.

An excellent opportunity for a chance win the meat for your Christmas dinner! This is always a very popular day, one which you don't want to miss.

The Minden Legion serves lunches every weekday with beer-battered fish & chips served Fridays noon to 2 p.m. and from 5 to 7 p.m. adding wings or onion rings.

However, this commitment takes a lot of volunteer hours and with many of our regulars going away for the winter, there are some blanks to fill on the calendar.

The revenue from these meals and special events help us keep our branch open for several community groups - Rotary,

Minden seniors, darts, Community Care, Calorie Counters, rug hookers, radio club, euchre players, etc.

If you can help cook four to five hours, once or twice a month, please leave a message at the branch, 705-286-4541.

If your 2015 membership card says six, 11, 16 years, etc., you are entitled to receive a new pin for completing five, 10 or 15 years etc of service.

We will mark those significant milestones during the Honours and Awards Day as part of the President's Levee on Jan. 1. If you can't be there on New Year's Day, contact President Judy Flieger so she can set your pin aside for another date. We'll also be announcing the winner of the 2015 Early Bird Draw at the Levee.

For those who missed the early bird deadline, time is running out to maintain your membership in good standing by renewing your 2015 membership before the end of the year.

Our condolences to the friends and comrades of zone sports officer Kirk Wilson following his death from cancer last week.

The zone and district sports events have been scheduled for the winter and the lineup will be posted shortly.

These events provide for some friendly inter-branch competition and excellent comradeship, exclusively for Legion members who have valid membership cards.

A few weeks ago, I wrote that Gwen Cox had received her 40-year pin as a Ladies Auxiliary member.

Well, whoever gave me that number was wrong; Gwen received her pin for an outstanding 50 years of service.

Congratulations, Gwen!

Believe in the Magic of Giving!

ALL ABOARD FOR THE Holiday GIFT EXPRESS

Haliburton County Home Builders Association
19th Annual Christmas Challenge

Join the Challenge and help us to make a difference

As the Christmas party season commences, The Haliburton County Home Builders would like to encourage you to include its Christmas Challenge in your plans. Large or small, each gift will help fill the Christmas hampers distributed by the Food Banks in Haliburton County for families in need.

Step 1: Call in advance to the Home Builders Office 457-6901

Step 2: Collect unwrapped toys or food items at your office or your Christmas Party.

Members of the Home Builders Association will pick up your gifts and deliver them to the workshops in Haliburton County. Remember to make the most of the Challenge have your gifts ready for pick up BEFORE December 15th. Early delivery to the workshops means the elves have enough time to prepare for Christmas.

This is the 19th anniversary of the Christmas Challenge. Whether this is the first year you have taken the challenge or the 19th year all gifts are needed. If you aren't sure what to collect simply gather local gift certificates. A value of $15.00 each make is easy to top up gifts for families who have teenagers.

Call 705-457-6901 and book your gift pick up date early!

Jean Evelyn Hunt.

March 8 1920 – November 6 2014 (Resident of Haliburton, Ontario)

Jean died peacefully at Highland Wood in Haliburton after a brief illness. Jean was born in Gowenstown, Ontario and lived most of her life in Palmerston. She was the daughter of William Bailey and Nellie Kress. Jean was a Registered Nurse, a graduate of The Stratford School of Nursing and worked as a nurse and Director of Nursing at Palmerston and District Hospital. Jean continued to serve others well into her retirement years and was a true friend to many, especially Lorne Moore of Carescent Care, Harriston and his family (her adopted family). Jean was a faithful member of St. Paul's Anglican Church, Palmerston and a member of Peace Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, Palmerston. Jean was married to the late John Edgar Hunt and was beloved mother of Lynne Johnston of Haliburton, John Hunt (deceased), and Patricia Kramer (Marc) of Switzerland. Her memory will be cherished by her grandchildren, Beth Robinson (Mark) of Leesburg, Virginia, Philip (Carol Marriott) of Minneapolis, Minnesota and David Hunt of North Bay. She leaves two great grandchildren, Jayden and Brayden Hunt.
